

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

This workshop is for professionals who have previously attended a Master Class here or with another approved provider, such as Dr. Daniel Hughes. It is expected that participants will have a working knowledge of attachment, how it develops, how attachment disorders develop, and a general knowledge of treatment principals.

Early deprivation, neglect, abuse, significant early health problems and hospitalizations, repeated moves, or more than one year in an orphanage can create attachment problems that require specialized treatment. Traditional forms of therapy are ineffective with attachment-disordered children. This workshop will provide the therapist with an opportunity to learn and practice effective treatment methods of trauma-attachment disordered children.

Participants are expected to bring in videotapes of sessions, to make arrangements to have a family attend a session for a consultation with the therapist and Dr. Becker-Weidman., or to be prepared to discuss cases they are currently seeing.

Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapy, is an evidence-based, effective, and empirically validated treatment that is grounded in current thinking and research on the etiology and treatment of Complex Trauma or Developmental Trauma Disorder. Treatment has an educational dimension, designed to help parents understand their child's attachment disorder: how the child feels and thinks, and the child's internal psychological dynamics. Second, teaching parents about attachment-facilitating parenting methods and the importance of attunement and responsive, sensitive parenting is essential. Direct work with the parents regarding their own family or origin issues is another component of treatment. Finally, intensive emotional work with the child in a manner consistent with sound treatment principles is vital.

The workshop is led by Dr. Arthur Becker-Weidman, who is certified by the Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapy Institute as a certified Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapist, certified consultant, and certified Trainer. This workshop provides training hours that may be used by the participant to meet the required training hours necessary to become a Certified Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapist.
